

Personalities Are Branded as Filthy By Mayor Leeming

Opponent's Campaign One of "Sheer Blackguardism," Incumbent Declares—Asks Re-election On Achievements During Past Year

BRANDING his opponent's campaign as one of personalities, "sheer blackguardism" and devoid of any constructive policies, Mayor David Leeming dismissed in cursory manner the attacks made upon him, at his final election meeting in the Chamber of Commerce last night.

After giving a resume of the civic administration during the past eleven months, Mayor Leeming said he was forced for the first time to mention his opponent's name in the campaign.

"SCURIOUS LANGUAGE" "I have endeavored to keep personalities out of this campaign, but after Mr. Andrew's meeting last night, I find it impossible to refrain from using his name. I ask you, did you ever hear such scurious language in all your life? He made statements."

"Such filthy duplicity offends the nostrils of every right thinking citizen. Men who have given of their best to bring the city out of financial chaos are charged by him with felony and he has the nerve to ask you to elect him chairman of those men whom he so vilifies."

"I think it is a crime that decent business men should be sacrificed to the interests of those of the citizens of Victoria, should be subjected to such base accusations," the Mayor said, in defence of the council.

Mayor Leeming came to the defence of George L. Warren, publicist commissioner, and said, "I believe Mr. Warren is one of the most capable and hard working citizens we have and it is a shame that he should be made the butt of petty electioneering." His tribute to Mr. Warren was greeted with applause from the audience.

EIGHT RECOMMENDATIONS In asking for the support of the electorate, the Mayor said he did so on eight different recommendations. The first was that he had been in the city for his time in service to the city as promised. His second recommendation was a cash balanced budget, the only one of the kind in the city. The third was the handling of unemployment relief without impairing the health of those receiving relief. The fourth was that the council had reduced the ordinary expenditures of the city by $150,000 compared with the last normal year. His fifth recommendation was that the council had worked in complete harmony in times of dire distress.

Charles Chivers, F. J. Crowhurst, Alderman T. W. Hawkins, J. D. Hunter, Alderman H. O. Litchfield, Alderman R. T. Williams, Walter Luney and Mrs. Alice McGregor spoke on behalf of the Mayor and the council, and Trustee P. E. George spoke on behalf of his candidature for school board.

C.P.R. HONORED BY MOOSE JAW

Prairie City Celebrates Half Century Since Arrival of Railroad

MOOSE JAW, Dec. 7 (CP).—The fifth anniversary of the entry of the Canadian Pacific Railway into Moose Jaw was celebrated tonight at a citizens' banquet attended by Premier J. T. Anderson and D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the C.P.R. western lines, as well as prominent residents of Moose Jaw and vicinity.

Mr. Coleman, the principal speaker of the evening, had a word of hope for the future. Beneficial effects of the Imperial Conference would be gradually apparent, and the successful trade pacts between the various British countries would have an effect of bringing about a revision of tariffs throughout the world, he believed.

The history of the railway and its problems were spoken of by Coleman referred to the excellent record of the C.P.R. in the report of the Royal Commission on Transportation.

"With such a record," he said, "I think you will agree that the shareholders of the company will be left in the hands of their own appointees, and administrative decisions of vital importance shall not be left to the judgment of an outside tribunal."

GENEVA, Dec. 7 (AP).—Long discussion by representatives of both large and great powers at the League of Nations special assembly resulted today in a definite proposal that the next effort to settle the Sino-Japanese conflict take the form of a commission of conciliation in which the United States and Russia would participate.

Spoken for Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany expressed the opinion there still were grounds for hope that conciliation would prove effective.

The suggestion that the United States and Russia take part in the attempt to achieve peace was set forth in a proposed resolution presented by the delegations from Spain, the Irish Free State and Czechoslovakia.

BANK MANAGER SEIZES BANDIT

Robber's Freedom With Stolen Money Brought to End on Street Car

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7.—A lone bandit who held up the Royal Bank of Canada, Sixteenth Avenue and Oak Street, today, discovered five minutes later that he had made a mistake.

By that time he was backed against the outside wall of the bank with a revolver prodding his ribs. And the revolver was in the hands of G. E. Devereaux, manager of the bank, who has been held up three times this year but has brought three men to court.

Mr. Devereaux captured the man on a street car within a few minutes of the holdup, in which $276 was taken.

ASKS FOR MANAGER

The bandit, a youthful, well-dressed man, who gave his name as "Red" Knight, Granville Street, walked into the bank at noon and asked the teller, W. C. Scott, for the manager.

The teller showed the cash across the counter and the holdup man fled just as a city-bound one-man street car rounded the corner of Sixteenth Avenue to Oak Street. He hopped on board.

STARTS IN PURSUIT

Mr. Devereaux seized his gun and gave chase. He signalled to the motorman and boarded the car. The bandit was on the front platform searching his pockets for some change.

Covering the bandit with his revolver, Mr. Devereaux forced him to descend to the street and walk back to the bank. There he placed him against an outside wall of the building, ordering him to "keep 'em up."

And there they were when Constable Albert Barker arrived with handcuffs.

This is the third time this year and the fourth in three years that the Oak Street Bank has been held up. In the first holdup, in December, 1929, the two men involved were captured and served prison terms. They obtained $2,300.

DROVE BANDITS AWAY

On June 9 of this year two men entered the bank armed with guns and ordered the manager and teller to hand over money. Mr. Devereaux seized his gun and fired at the bandits. They fled, escaping in an automobile containing three confederates.

On November 9 another unsuccessful attempt was made, and a few days afterwards John Dusenberry was arrested and charged with the crime. He is now awaiting trial on the charge.

FIND TRACES OF FOUNDERED SHIP

Three Bodies From Steamer Sandbeach Are Found on Newfoundland Coast

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 7 (CP).—Official opinion in St. John's tonight was that the three bodies found on the foundered steamer Sandbeach had been recovered. Railway men were inclined to believe that a number of messages received from various settlements along the coast of Bay St. George had given rise to the belief that more had been discovered, a duplication of reports being responsible for the report that the bodies of seven men had been found.

Yesterday Captain B. M. Moody's body was found at Fishers and will probably be sent to St. Stephen, N.B., for burial. Twenty miles down the coast, at Little Priars, near Highland Brook, fishermen discovered a boat with the Sandbeach's name on her plankings, and Andrew Berg's body. Berg, also known as Bergie, signed on as from Scotland, Bank.

One more was found today at Robinson's Head. It had not been identified tonight.

WOLF CREEK LOOKS GOOD

Tests Prove Extensive Gold-Bearing Gravels in Sooke District

The recent promising strike made by Honeychurch and Stokes on Wolf Creek in the Sooke District has been quickly followed up and investigated under the personal supervision of J. S. Macdonald, veteran northern mining man, on behalf of Victoria interests with a view of determining the actual range of gravel and gold values of the property.

So favorable were the results of the testing of the gravels that additional ground has been secured on what appears to be the old channel of Wolf Creek. Sufficient water has been applied for, to provide for the operation of a hydraulic plant and it is intended to use Wolf Lake as a reservoir, thereby insuring a continuous supply of water for an all-year-round operation.

TO INSTALL PLANT It is proposed to install a plant capable of washing 800 yards per twenty-four hours, or an average of 24,000 cubic yards per month. The gravel runs approximately 25 cents per cubic yard in actual test, it is readily seen that the property should become a profitable producer under the management of practical mining men. It is estimated by Mr. Macdonald that owing to the exceptionally favorable mining conditions existing on Vancouver Island, the total cost of operation would not exceed eight cents a yard. This gravel, of course, is not so rich as the Cariboo and Alaska gold-bearing gravels, but the low operating costs go a long way to offset the lower values obtained.

The reports covering the year, which were presented, indicated that the interest in the club had been well maintained. Mr. Wheeler praised the camp established at Lake of the Seven Hills.

WILL NOT VARY CIVIL SERVICE

Departmental Adjustments Now Under Way Are of Routine Nature

No general regrading of the Civil Service is contemplated, and organization under way now in each department is of a routine nature to set up a definite grading of positions as they already exist, it was explained yesterday by Major Roger Monteith, Civil Service commissioner.

General regrading cannot be undertaken at this time, he stated, and what was being carried out was adjustment of the fixed organization in each department to bring it up to date, showing the number of positions and their grading, similar to the existing structure.

There are a few exceptions, in which men who are already receiving more than the maximum in their grades will be realigned. The organization has proceeded through nearly all departments, and was applied by order-in-council yesterday to that of the Department of Agriculture.

The grades recognized in the service comprise deputy ministers, technical positions, and first, second and third class duties, with several subdivisions.

SOME COLD FACTS

The British Notes to the United States on the subject of war debts have at least brought before the people of the world information relating to international monetary obligations, and particularly the situation which Britain occupies in relation to these. That position has been set out succinctly from time to time, upon no occasion, however, more tersely than in a brief statement appearing in The London Daily Mail in 1926. A summary of that statement will add to the general knowledge available on the subject even at this late date. It pointed out the following facts at the time:

Britain's debt to the United States $ 935,753,000
 Allies' debt to Britain £2,062,450,000

Of the $935,000,000 which Great Britain is now repaying to the United States in gold at the rate of over $37,000,000 a year—

Every penny was spent in American goods.
 Prices (which were high) were fixed by the American Government.
 Income taxes and other taxes were collected on these prices, and had to be paid by the British.
 Profits on the goods went into American pockets.

A British proposal to repay American goods with British goods was rejected.

The American loss of life in action in the war was 40,464. The British loss was 908,000 in the Army. There were 800,000 British casualties incurred in 1917-18, in the period when the United States was in the war but not actively fighting.

The British Government, in 1922 proposed to the United States to cancel all the war debts. The United States declined. Lord Balfour in his note to the United States on the subject of cancellation said: "Our liabilities were incurred for others and not for ourselves, to enable the Allies to continue the war. The British debt to the United States and the Allies' debt to Britain were incurred not for the separate advantage of particular States but for a great purpose common to them all."

ECONOMIC DISEASES AND WORSE REMEDIES

Most people admit that the movements of trade and commerce over longer or shorter periods form a pretty fair basis for the theory of trade cycles which succeed each other almost with the regularity of the seasons; that if prices take a steady upward course for a while expansion of business follows, whereas if they take a downward course, or rise at a slower rate than formerly, loss and contraction are the result; and that there is thus an inevitable oscillation between the two extremes of expansion and depression. There are some, however, who think that while the foregoing may be a fair description of what usually occurs, it is insufficient to account for the depression from which we are suffering today. The present depression, they say, is so severe and at the same time so widespread, that it should be regarded as quite unique and abnormal, and that, moreover, it calls for the application of drastic and heroic remedies.

It is only too true that the depression is both severe and widespread, but there are some related circumstances which should not be overlooked. When one considers the era of post-war extravagance, when an extraordinary degree attracted individuals and governments alike, one can hardly feel very much surprise at the conditions now existing. When one further considers the dimensions of the American boom a few years ago, the length of time during which the business of buying and selling both commodities and securities continued on its upward course, and the unprecedented heights of speculation in commerce and on the stock exchange, one is even less surprised at the extent of the reaction, a reaction which, to all appearance, seems proportional to the dimensions of the spectacular and colossal boom. It is desirable, then, to recognize not only the wide extent and severity of the depression, but also the fact that depressions are recurrent, that they pass away in due course, and that retrenchment everywhere, along with uncompromising thrift, personal and governmental, will in time restore confidence and carry us forward to better times.

Perhaps the most utterly futile of all the schemes proposed for the purpose of bettering our condition is that which is euphemistically described as the nationalization of the banks. By this mouth-filling phrase it is not meant that the banks should be governed by the general operation of the laws and should be the subject of legislative enactment. The banks are now and have always been in that position. What is called nationalization is something far different. The proposal seems to be that the banks should actually be "taken over" by the state, and that the savings of the people, now held in trust by the banks, should be transferred to the custody of the politicians.

In this amazing proposal there is something so completely subversive of ordinary moral principle that it is difficult to find appropriate terms by which to challenge it. Apart from the ethics of such a proceeding as "taking over" the money in the banks, nine-tenths of which was deposited there, in trust, by ordinary citizens, what guarantee is there that a legislature composed of farmers, merchants, physicians, mechanics and lawyers, will be equipped with an expert knowledge of banking? A legislature is not more likely to understand banking than a medical conference, an assembly of divines, or a convention of railway engineers. The political parties in a legislature are no doubt expert in the devices and methods of party politics, and the political control of the savings of the people would inevitably be exercised in the interest of the party rather than for the advantage of the depositors.

Lord Snowden, whose experience as Chancellor of the Exchequer entitles him to be heard upon this subject, declares that the Labor party in Britain will never get into office on such a platform. "Raah interference," he says, "with the mechanism of finance would bring irreparable disaster from which the working classes would suffer most. . . . Nothing could be more dangerous than to introduce political influence into financial control, apart from the incompetence of an honest Parliament to deal with such a matter."

FREE STATE'S NEW VICEROY

In the eyes of Mr. de Valera the qualifications of Mr. Donal Buckley for the position of Viceroy of the Free State are that he has been affiliated with the Sinn Fein movement and took part in the Dublin rebellion of 1916. He also has been a member of the Republican Army and was elected to the first Dail Eireann. Moreover, he is a close personal friend of Mr. de Valera. He has been a shopkeeper in the town of Wexford, which has 500 inhabitants. His appointment is regarded as a step in the process Mr. de Valera has engineered for a complete break in the relationships between the Free State and Britain. Mr. Buckley has taken the oath of allegiance to His Majesty. A country, however, which under its present Government has repudiated treaty obligations is not likely to back off officially at repudiating an oath of allegiance.

A TRADE REVIVAL

Canadian trade, both exports and imports, is increasing in volume, which is indication that the worst of the trade depression is over. There is now a growing market for our products due to the new Imperial Trade Treaties. As well, Canada continues to build up an increasingly favorable trade balance, which means more money available for circulation at home. In the first six months of the present fiscal year the favorable balance was more than $36,000,000. This represents an improvement of $72,000,000 as compared with the first six months of the last fiscal year. Obviously any growth in trade and in the circulation of goods is a sign of recuperation. Canada has good reasons for optimism. As the Imperial Trade Treaties play their part in recuperation, that optimism is certain to be justified to a much fuller extent.

American insistence on the payment of war debts on the present basis will drive all other countries involved to a course of refusing to pay anything but raw materials from the United States. That should mean increased trade for those countries, out of which they would ultimately be able to pay their war debts. In the meantime, however, the United States would suffer perhaps the worst economic depression in history. Such a proceeding could not be attributed to bad feeling, but would be a matter of sound economics. It is because of the certainty of this happening if the United States maintains its present attitude that Britain retains confidence that there will be a revision of war debts. The United States cannot afford, for the sake of her own economic well-being, to postpone such revision.

The rural population of Quebec is hardly any larger than it was forty years ago, according to La Tribune, of Sherbrooke. The general population of Quebec has increased by a million souls in that period. Apparently Quebec must be drawing some of its foodstuffs, which might be produced at home, from outside. This would seem to afford an argument for a back to the land movement in that province.

FIGHTING FOR A SHADOW

Mr. de Valera has picked a quarrel with England, and no citizen has escaped the disastrous results. Unemployment, falling trade, ruined markets and the growing resentment of the British nation are the terrible cost of his tactics. He is turning a potent friend into a potent enemy; while he fights for a shadow, all the material benefits of a real independence are crumbling into dust.—Dublin Weekly Irish Times.

It must be the climate. To what else can be attributed the intellectual leadership of Winnipeg in all great movements—political, economic, social—movements designed, and possibly destined, to effect a revolution in the public affairs of Canada? If the remarkable phenomenon is not to be attributed to the stimulating influence of the prairie climate, it must be due to some other intoxicating force, possibly to the energizing agency of the inspiring editorials printed daily in The Winnipeg Free Press.

Sometimes we are not quite sure whether Mr. Woodworth, the Winnipeg orator and orator, is responsible for The Free Press or The Free Press is responsible for Mr. Woodworth. Although we have been solemnly warned, that the utterances and the leadership of Mr. Woodworth must be taken seriously, because the formation of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation is a very serious matter and its famous leader is a very serious as well as a very able man, somehow we have never been quite capable of accepting Mr. Woodworth and his Utopian ideas with the utmost gravity.

As readers of The Colonist may not have paid a great deal of attention to the vapors of Mr. Woodworth, either, and do not know what Mr. Woodworth "would be," it may be as well to tell them that there has been formed in Canada a group of politicians who call themselves a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and that the orator of Winnipeg is one of its leaders. There are other leaders, but who will be the chief rulers of Canada in the future has not yet been determined.

To Mr. Woodworth has been joined Mr. E. C. Drury, once a very prominent man in the affairs of Ontario. Mr. Drury is a farmer by profession, a fluent speaker by inheritance and a leader of men, if not of thought, by preference. He was Premier of the first and only farmers' government Ontario is ever likely to have, because it was the most corrupt and the most inefficient government ever set up in Canada or anywhere else, with the possible exception of the Labor governments of Great Britain and Australia.

Now farmers in their natural and chosen spheres are reputed to be exceptionally frugal and unimpeachably honest. The first act of the only Ontario Farmers' Government was to raise the salaries of its members. Mr. Drury, although as Premier he must have been a consenting party to the raid upon the treasury, must have had some qualms of conscience, for he refrained from drawing the increased allowance while he was in power, but he drew it several years after he had been kicked out of office by the electors when he found out that it was still to his credit upon the public account. One of Mr. Drury's colleagues was indicted before the courts and suffered the consequences of indulgence in corrupt practices.

The principal elements in the new political group are farmers and laborers. A few years ago it would have been considered quite possible for the lion and the lamb to lie down together (without fatal consequences to the lamb) as the men he had under him could not be replaced. Everyone knows a carpenter earns his money both by the quality and quantity of his work. A man is engaged because he is not out of work today, because he is no good at the trade, but because there is no work to be had. The result of the running a job like the Nursing Sisters Home at the Jubilee Hospital, yet when he is in charge as foreman for such an important firm of contractors as Luney Bros., he takes on the place of a laborer, working all day mixing concrete, running a barrow and the like, at the same time acting as foreman.

Is this the principle of Socialism, for which he dares to offer himself to the people of Victoria? Is it, Mr. Editor?

Let him assume the dignity of a foreman that his ability justifies and so open the way for a laborer to earn a living.

Mr. Chivers may be elected. If he is, the people of Victoria will draw a dual salary while others look on and want.

very able man. There were men in the British Labor government who were not fools. Some of them in a different environment have demonstrated that they are able and patriotic men. Mr. Woodworth boasts that he is out to accomplish a revolution, but that he is going to accomplish all his suggested reforms without bloodshed. A revolutionary leader may propose, but he is likely to have a following which will take the matter into its own hand and try to dispose according to its natural disposition.

POLICE COMMISSION

Sir—I have noticed that Mayor Leeming says that Victoria has one of the best police departments and chief on the Pacific Coast. I heartily agree with him on these matters, we are doing as well as anything to do on that score? Nothing. The one who did it is condemned and persecuted for doing it. He even has to pay $100 per month, which amounted to $180 per month up to date. It has cost your humble servant about $100,000. I am sure if Mr. Leeming wanted to improve the police department he could. Borrow a few good men from Scotland Yard, and then he could say he was the best. Just like he says the city's budget is balanced after he borrows money to do the same, which the ratepayers will have to pay back a thousand times.

Like Mr. Jones says, every dollar the Government borrows, the people have to pay $3 back. You can't run your business that way, and neither can the city or the Government, because it is getting so big that it is impossible to pay. The only thing we are doing is going behind more and more every day. Later on it will be impossible to carry on.

Now, good citizens, be sure in the near future to get back what is rightfully yours, the right to vote for whom you want for police commissioner, not those that the Government or police want to pay to be on you. The only way you can have a good police department is to keep an eye on it all the time.

The reason their opponents got rid of the past commissioners was that they could not handle them and make them do what they wanted them to do, so they did the best thing—they framed up charges against them and put them out of office so they could run it to suit themselves. I would like to see them print the charges and let you know who made it so it would give Mr. North and Mr. McElvin a chance to have them to court.

J. C. NORTH,
 1109 Johnson Street, Victoria, B.C., December 6, 1932.

ALDERMANIC CONTEST

Sir—The act of Mr. Chivers offering himself for alderman as a leader of Socialism rouses me to action. I am attacking him on principle.

What is Socialism? Equal rights for all? It goes farther and says every man should have the equal share of the wealth of the world.

Mr. Chivers is working for Luney Bros., both as a foreman when he can, as a journeyman when he can, and as a laborer when he can. Take that fact into consideration and let me tell you that he is not a Socialist. He is a man who is asking the people of Victoria to put him in as alderman so that he can bring to his already steady income. Example is better than precept.

Is he carrying out the principle of Socialism in every sense of the word? Some time ago was put at the Carpenters' Union meeting to form a committee to consider the question of sharing the wealth of the world. A member, permanently employed, opposed it on the ground that the motion was not worth thinking about. The motion was defeated almost unanimously, only myself and another member voting for it. Mr. Chivers was at that meeting and voted against the motion—that work should be equally divided. Mark this.

He said Luney Bros. could not afford to split up their work. The men he had under him could not be replaced. Everyone knows a carpenter earns his money both by the quality and quantity of his work. A man is engaged because he is not out of work today, because he is no good at the trade, but because there is no work to be had. The result of the running a job like the Nursing Sisters Home at the Jubilee Hospital, yet when he is in charge as foreman for such an important firm of contractors as Luney Bros., he takes on the place of a laborer, working all day mixing concrete, running a barrow and the like, at the same time acting as foreman.

Is this the principle of Socialism, for which he dares to offer himself to the people of Victoria? Is it, Mr. Editor?

Let him assume the dignity of a foreman that his ability justifies and so open the way for a laborer to earn a living.

Mr. Chivers may be elected. If he is, the people of Victoria will draw a dual salary while others look on and want.

GEORGE COOPER.

1203 Blanshard Street, Victoria, B.C., December 7, 1932.

MONEY FOR PUBLICITY

Sir—During the civic election campaign, which is now drawing to a close, we have been hearing a great deal about the publicity grant, for and against. A great deal of time has been taken in this question, and in fact, it is no doubt will be a large factor in deciding the personnel of our 1933 City Council.

I say, "The man leading the better in the press, and from reports of speeches by the candidates for election for the various vacancies on the board, that a large majority of the ratepayers are opposed to the grant being made this coming year.

In discussing the value of the publicity Bureau in connection with the tourist business, more especially by those in favor of the grant, the inference is that a large number of the tourists who come to our city are attracted through the activities of the Publicity Bureau. The fact of the matter, as I see it, is quite the opposite. Big transportation companies who depend largely on the traveling public for their income, advertise extensively, and about 70 per cent of the tourists come through this channel, 25 per cent from tourists who visit us yearly, and a possible 5 per cent due to our Publicity Bureau.

Instead of making a grant for publicity in 1933, let us spend a like amount among the needy and suffering in our city. This, in turn, will be distributed among our merchants and shopkeepers, and thus to that extent help old man prosperity to get around that "pesky" corner.

J. C. FOOTE, SR.,
 2345 Estevan Avenue, Victoria, B.C., December 7, 1932.

TODAY'S VOTE

Sir—It is hoped that every person on the list of voters in the Municipality of Victoria will do his or her utmost to get to the polling station today (Thursday). One vote may turn the scale either way. This beautiful city of ours, with a climate unequalled in Canada, and where we have made our homes, needs every person's co-operation at the present critical time.

Who's to blame?
 You say "the taxes are too high." But did you vote?
 About extravagance you sigh, But did you vote?
 You say "How long can we endure This state of things that makes us sigh?" But did you vote?

ARTHUR HINDER,
 59 Moss Street, Victoria, B.C., December 7, 1932.

MAYORALTY CONTEST

Sir—During the past few weeks I have listened to a tirade of abuse from Mr. E. B. Andros, candidate for mayor, against the present incumbent. I have yet to hear from him any constructive criticism or any sound policy upon which he would work if elected to office. His campaign recalls to mind the marks of Mayor William Marchant at a council meeting in 1922 when Alderman Andros, I believe, was then chairman of the public utilities committee.

Facts speak for themselves. Mr. Andros offers himself on the basis of his past experience. What is that experience? In the issue of The Colonist of November 10, 1927, I read that Mayor Marchant chastising then Alderman Andros with having attended only five out of sixteen of his own committee meetings, and with having been frequently absent from council meetings. Here are his words:

"I wish at this point to place on record my thorough disapproval of the attitude evinced by Alderman Andros at the council meeting referred to. It comes especially with an ill grace from an alderman who has been absent from some council meetings and attended only five out of sixteen meetings convened by the chairman of the public utilities committee, and who is therefore acquainted with the many matters arising from the internal economy and administration of the various departments, as also the general trend of affairs, which are of supreme importance to the citizens at large."

Moreover, as far as I personally can recall, do not know of any single constructive proposal Mr. Andros, during his eight years as alderman, made for the betterment of the efficiency of the public service of the city.

Mr. Editor, I submit that such condemnation from the mayor of the city of one of his colleagues made, not during the heat of an election campaign, but at one of the council meetings, is sufficient reason why the people of this city should be careful before they are carried away with pre-election promises and sensational charges that do not ring true in the ears of those who know Mr. Andros' past record.

Mayor Leeming has been a full-time man in every sense of the word and worked diligently in the interest of the public which he serves. He has shown a grasp of civic affairs that few other mayors have shown, but have any assurance, on the record, that his opponent in the forthcoming election will be a full-time mayor or offer anything constructive to the city's administration?

BEAUMONT BOGGS.

725 Fort Street, Victoria, B.C., Dec. 7, 1932.

CIVIC FINANCES

Sir—It has been stated by the Mayor and his supporters that the budget has been balanced. True, a balance has been struck, but is it a true balance, showing all the facts of the city's financial position at the end of this year as compared with last?

Half a million dollars has been added to the city's liabilities and of this sum the brokers have bought $500,000 at 103 for a $100 bond, and will receive nearly 7 per cent per annum, while the citizen who bought at the face value of the bonds will receive 6 per cent. This means the taxpayers will now have to repay, as compared with past years, not only an addition to the principal of the city's debt but also interest on that addition to the amount of nearly $30,000. This half-truth that "our budget is balanced" is the suppression of the most important item in a complete statement of the city's financial position.

Had it been said that the budget was unbalanced because of the necessary claims of the unemployed, this statement could have been understood; but this "balanced budget" can be put alongside the promise, "Vote half a million dollars; otherwise your taxes will be raised."

WILLIAM MACKAY,
 1028 Pakington Street, Victoria, B.C., December 6, 1932.

THE LORD'S DAY

Sir—I have been following with great interest the controversy on the above subject which for some time has appeared in your press. I beg your kind permission to say a few words on the same. The crux of the whole matter is the subject of the Lord's Sabbath. The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. St. Mark, II, 27-28.

Our Lord never while on earth laid down any hard and fast rule for the keeping of His day. He was not so narrow minded as we are today. The man leading the better in the press, and from reports of speeches by the candidates for election for the various vacancies on the board, that a large majority of the ratepayers are opposed to fringement of his personal liberty. If I or anyone else choose to play golf or open my place of business on Sunday there is absolutely no harm in my doing so, provided that I do not compel my clerk to work against his conscience.

There has been much said about the Vancouver Philharmonic Orchestra giving a Sunday concert, and I note that one writer said that if a collection had been taken up in the building instead of tickets sold at the door the orchestra would have been within the law. I should dearly like to know where the difference comes in between taking money at the door and taking it inside a building. And while I am on this point I should like to say that the churches are just as much offenders against the Lord's Day Act as the Philharmonic Orchestra. The church takes up a collection at its service, and according to the Lord's Day Act no remunerative work may be done on Sunday. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

It might interest some people to know that England, which has the name of being the most law-abiding and Christian country in the world, has passed a law permitting picture palaces to operate on Sunday. How does that strike some of you boosters of the Lord's Day Alliance? You people are far too "1890." You cannot legislate what a person can or cannot do on a Sunday, let alone what he may do on a Monday. You can tell him when he has to go to church. If you say to a person, "Thou shalt not," it stands to reason that he will. It is only human nature. Anyone who has been to school will tell you that. If a place near a school is out of bounds, that is the first place to which the boys will go, and if they can get away with it without getting caught and licked so much the better. So with a lot of the laws in our day. A foolish law is made and the public break it, and will continue to break it till the Government takes a tumble to what an unmitigated ass it has made of itself. One has only to look at the Prohibition Act in the United States to get a good example of what I have just said. Thank God they have seen the error of their ways and apply to the Lord's Day Act; it is far too "1890." It treats the public like children, and the public is not going to stand for it.

Sunday is a day of recreation; not for long faces, fasting and praying. One can pray at any time on any day, and one does not have to go to church to be a Christian. I know many good Christians who never enter a church door, and it is my firm belief that there are far better Christians outside the church than there are in it. I hear a lot of talk of the intolerance of the Roman Catholic Church. I have found far more intolerance in the Protestant. The Roman Catholic clergy may keep a strict eye on their consciences, but at least they are allowed the latter part of Sunday to amuse themselves in the case of theatres, as can be seen in the Province of Quebec. In conclusion, it is my sincere hope that we in British Columbia and other provinces in the West will follow the example of Quebec.

GREAT LINER WAS DELAYED

Cracked Valve Casing of Conte de Savoia Plugged by Seamen

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 7 (CP).—The new Italian liner Conte de Savoia, reported disabled 6 miles off the coast of Newfoundland today, has been repaired and is proceeding toward New York, according to a wireless message received here.

On Monday evening the Conte de Savoia, on her maiden voyage from Italy to New York, experienced some mechanical difficulty which delayed her progress. A valve casing cracked

Special Department Finds Work for Handicapped Men

"HUMAN-INTEREST BONDS"

THE Employment Service of Canada has a special department endeavoring to find employment for the physically handicapped applicant. Most of these men are unable to take their place in the ordinary labor market as the result of their services to their country in the Great War.

While permanent and suitable employment is, of course, sought for all these men, there are many who are capable and willing to take temporary and casual work.

At Christmas time they naturally feel particularly anxious that their loved ones shall have those festivities and small gifts that mark the season in all Christian countries.

Buy a "Human-Interest Bond" and "Give a Job" so that all needing a few extra dollars may have the opportunity of earning them.

Telephone Garden 2411 and a suitable man to fill the particular requirements of the work offered will respond.

While she was about 900 miles from Amherst Light, she hove to and a seaman plugged up a ten-inch hole in the side just below the waterline. The voyage was resumed and it was said that the liner would reach New York today.

The breaking of the valve yesterday made it necessary to heave the vessel to for repairs. Due to the delay it was at first said that the liner would not reach New York today.

"The ship is now traveling at a faster speed than we anticipated and will reach quarantine at 2 o'clock," a line official said.

Information is desired from Public Bodies Regarding Reports in Circulation

A letter from Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was received before the Trades and Labor Council at last evening's meeting, in reply to one sent to him protesting against the use of foreign material in the construction of the Pier Island detention buildings. The letter from the Minister stated that the department had no knowledge of such having been done. If such were the case, it must have arisen from the action of the contractor unknown to the department. The Minister thanked the council for calling his attention to the matter.

The Trades and Labor Council will protest to the Provincial and Dominion Governments against the inadequate relief to be afforded unemployed under the new schedule proposed. It will join in support of the protest by the City Council.

Information will be sought from the School Board with regard to the employment of watchmen drawn from the ranks of the unemployed, who, it was alleged, had to remain on duty twelve hours at a time. Information will also be gathered as to relief men who were not in good health being obliged to work in the rain.

Inquiries into conditions in the relief office will be made. It was alleged that women and children, and also men, had to remain too long waiting to present their cases. Instances of actual distress being suffered were laid before the meeting last evening.

MAKES FINAL VOTE APPEAL

E. B. Andros, Candidate for Mayor, Addresses Meeting at City Temple

E. B. Andros, candidate for the mayoralty of Victoria, ended his three weeks of strenuous campaigning last night with a meeting at the City Temple, at which Rev. Dr. Clem Davies was chairman.

The address of Mr. Andros was directed mainly to a review of his platform, in which he advocates sweeping reductions in civic expenditures by eliminating the non-essentials. He was opposed to any more bond issues, and favored a policy of spending within the revenue.

Mr. Andros said that during the summer the people voted ten to one against continuing the policy of a municipal airport and, in spite of that vote, the Mayor and council had gone ahead and leased an airport for two years and had expended public money in making improvements to a property that was not within the municipality.

OTHER ISSUES

Mr. Andros declared that there would have to be a readjustment of the relief department. He reiterated his oft-repeated desire to submit the contentious question of the public grant to the ratepayers for a decision. He attacked the system of issuing bonds as not conducive to the best interests of the citizens as a whole and believed that there should be less bond issues and a more direct effort made to pay current expenditures without having to resort to borrowing.

Mr. Andros presented a table of savings which, he declared, could be effected without harming anyone, or any department of the City Hall. These he totaled at $12,500 and claimed this amount would more than pay the interest on the money borrowed this year and would represent approximately one mill if applied to the tax rate.

In concluding, he made a strong appeal for support at the polls today and stated: "I have made a success of my own business affairs, why should I not make a success of yours?"

Further arrangements for the Tuxis Boys' Parliament, which will be held here on December 28, 29, 30 and 31, were made last evening at the regular meeting of the Boys' Work Board. It is the intention of those responsible for the arrangements to invite His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to open the Parliament on the Wednesday.

An extensive programme has been drawn up and the young leaders will be well cared for during their visit here. Luncheon meetings have been arranged for December 28, 30 and 31 in Spencer's private dining-room, while the members of the C.G.I.T. will hold a special entertainment for the representatives on December 29.

R. Wallace and G. Brown, Cave are suggested as clerks of the house, with Professor E. S. Farr, Rev. Dr. Gerald Switzer, Rev. H. A. Wray and Frank Paulding as leaders for discussion groups. The billing committee will consist of H. Ralston, O. Morrison, L. Langley, A. Wright and George Gregory.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR CANDIDATES

Saanich Ward Two Non-Political Ratepayers' Body to Hear Trustees and Commissioners

Candidates for school board and police commission in Saanich will be invited to address the next regular meeting of the Saanich Ward Two Non-Political Ratepayers' Association to be held on January 4. It was decided at a meeting held in the Cloverdale School last night that action was decided upon since it was felt that these candidates were not allowed sufficient time to speak during an election meeting.

The association also decided that it would not sponsor a candidate in the forthcoming municipal elections, as previously proposed by its organizers. Councillor Dennis Hoare, seeking re-election, and Ernest A. Williams, candidate for the ward seat, both assured the meeting that, if elected, they would be only too glad to attend the meetings and report on ward work discussed at the council meetings.

PIONEER CITIZEN CALLED BY DEATH

Moses Lenz, 1145 Faithful Street, pioneer merchant of Victoria, passed away yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past two months. Mr. Lenz was seventy-one years old, and had been a Victoria resident for the past fifty-nine years.

Born in Madison, Wisconsin, he came to this city as a young boy. In his early business life he acquired a partnership in the firm of Lenz & Leiser, one of the biggest wholesale dry goods concerns in the West, which experienced a rush of business outfitting prospectors and miners for the Klondike gold rush. In later years Mr. Lenz became sole proprietor of the firm.

Mr. Lenz was predeceased by his wife and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Simon Leiser, of Victoria, and a daughter residing in California. The remains will be forwarded on Saturday by Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company to San Francisco, where services will be held and interment made.

Nativity Music Forms Club's December Theme

Composers From Bach to Gustav Holst Source of Chorales and Solos Presented by Musical Arts Last Night

Using a setting which realistically reproduced a candle-lit chapel, with stained glass Gothic window and altar, the Musical Arts Society last night, at the Shrine Auditorium, gave one of the most beautiful programmes of Christmas music ever presented here.

Two robed choristers occupied reading desks at the side of the stage and threaded together with narrative built up from the story of the Nativity the beautiful musical numbers drawn from the works of composers from the time of Bach to Gustav Holst. Whoever was responsible for the selection of the music showed exquisite taste, for all the numbers were distinguished for their beauty, simplicity and devotional feeling, and were performed in the same spirit. The fact that all the music took place back-stage withdrew all sense of personality being inserted between the Nativity theme and the listener. A truly devout atmosphere was created, broken only by quiet folding together of the curtains at the last cadences of the "Pavement of the Shepherds" came to an end, the audience burst forth in applause, framed from applauding throughout.

Mrs. C. E. McNeill and Charles Burchett were responsible for the beautiful decoration of the stage.

Following is the programme in detail:

"O Come, O Come, Emmanuel" (traditional hymn); "Come Thou, O Come!" chorale by J. S. Bach; "Comfort Ye," tenor aria from Handel's "Messiah"; "Prepare Thyself, Zion," contralto aria from Bach's "Christmas Oratorio"; "How Shall I Folly Meet Thee?" chorale from Barth's "Christmas Oratorio"; "Lo, How a Rose E'er Bloomin'," male chorus, Michael Praetorius; "Lullaby," mezzo-soprano solo, Rutland Boughton; "The Shepherd's Song," chorale from the "Christmas Oratorio"; "Jesu, Sweet," soprano solo with violin accompaniment, Gustav Holst; "He Shall Feed His Flock," contralto solo from "The Messiah"; "Ahi! Dearest Jesu," chorale from "Christmas Oratorio"; "Pavement of the Shepherds," Hector Berlioz.

Those taking part were Sopranos, Mrs. C. E. McNeill, Misses Mona Bradford and Edna Dill; Tenors, Mr. J. S. McNeill, Misses Nora Jones and L. Blake; Basses, Mr. J. S. McNeill, Misses Nora Jones and L. Blake; Pianists, Mr. J. S. McNeill, Misses Nora Jones and L. Blake; Violins, Mr. J. S. McNeill, Misses Nora Jones and L. Blake; Cellists, Mr. J. S. McNeill, Misses Nora Jones and L. Blake; Double Basses, Mr. J. S. McNeill, Misses Nora Jones and L. Blake.

GOVERNMENT TO WHITTLE COSTS

Diminution in $7,300,000
Municipal Grants Certain for 1933

Underexpenditure of current department appropriations voted by the Legislature, to an aggregate extent of some 25 per cent of the 1932-33 budget, is being sought from all departments of the Government, it was reiterated yesterday, at the Legislative Buildings.

While no official statement was made on the point, it is known that express instructions have been sent by the treasury to all other departments urging them to hold down expenditures well below voted amounts, in an effort to bridge as much of the expected gap between revenues and expenditures as possible before the close of the fiscal year.

CONSIDERABLE SAVING

A 25 per cent reduction in the budgeted outlay would amount to a saving of several hundred thousand dollars each in the larger departments, and sizeable sums in other branches of the Government service.

The ruling is not a new one, but has been more or less generally applied throughout the year, under treasury control regulations. The rate of saving, however, in the final quarter of the present fiscal year, must go up, and only for the amount in an effort to bridge as much of the expected gap between revenues and expenditures as possible before the close of the fiscal year.

RELIEF SCALE

While it was tightening efforts to hold down its own costs, the Government was being engaged on several hands by municipalities who sought upward revision of the new scale for relief of men with dependents in urban centres. The scale announced is still in effect, and the Government has shown no signs of weakening its original resolve.

Instructions were given yesterday for an immediate investigation of complaints made by Vancouver city on relief affairs. Officials already on the ground will report to the Government.

Looking ahead to next year, it is almost certain that the Government will be forced to cut its general grants to municipalities by a considerable margin, though to what precise extent cannot yet be learned. More than $1,200,000 was paid out in this way in 1931-32.

corner of Belleville and Government streets. The tree fell across the tracks when blown in the opposite direction to that in which it was expected to fall. The poplar trees on the C.N.R. property are being removed by the city at the railway's expense, owing to the fact that they have become decayed.

Chinese Sentenced—Yip Jui, Chinese, was found guilty in the city court, yesterday, of the offence of being in possession of a quantity of opium and was sentenced to six months imprisonment. Officers of the tactical squad of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police found two packages of the drug hidden in a book when they visited his rooms on November 29. R. A. Wootton appeared for the Crown, and J. B.
Clearhue was counsel for the accused.

Re-enters Club—At the last meeting of the Elwanis Club, Fred Crowhurst was introduced as a member by Dr. William Russell. It was explained that Mr. Crowhurst had formerly been a member, but on moving out of the city had resigned. It was announced that the installation of the new officers of the club had been set for Friday, January 6. There will be a dinner and a dance in connection with it.
The district convention of the organization is being held in Vancouver on Thursday.

Rotary Programme—Alfred Carmichael, a past president of the Victoria Rotary Club, will tell of the opportunity of Rotary in Central Europe, especially in Czechoslovakia, at the next meeting of local Rotarians at 12:10 p.m. today in the Empress Hotel. The club will conduct a ladies' evening meeting during the end of January or early in February. The dates of the district Rotary conference, to be held in Victoria next year, have been definitely set for Monday and Tuesday, May 22 and 23.

Decision Reserved—Magistrate George Jay reserved his decision at the conclusion of the trial of Sinder Singh, Saanich Hindu, charged with being in possession of a quantity of spirits unlawfully manufactured.
The hearing was resumed in the Saanich police court yesterday morning and Sinder Singh gave evidence in his own defence. He claimed he was not the owner of the spirits found at his house when officers of the mounted and Saanich police entered on November 29. E. V. Finland conducted the case for the Crown, and F. C. Elliott was counsel for Sinder Singh.

TWO BADLY INJURED AT CAMPBELL RIVER

CAMPBELL RIVER, Dec. 7.—On Thursday Gordon Jamieson and another man were badly hurt. They were repairing a car in the roundhouse and did not notice the locomotive coming, which pushed the water carrier in knocking against the car which was being repaired.
Mr. Jamieson had his leg badly crushed and it is feared it may have to be amputated. The other man had his arm broken.

"HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD"

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter:

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing has helped. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago. Mrs. Doris Eyrre King (address furnished upon request).

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking pills and drugs—often harmful. Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the package—green color. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

WANT NOT-MOVE AGAINST CITY

Overdue Salaries and Interest Create Problems for Burnaby

Proportionately more heavily interested in Burnaby than in any other British Columbia municipality, the Government will take no action to press for payment of interest of debentures of the city held by the Province, it was made clear here yesterday by Hon. J. W. Jones. The Province is understood to hold some $750,000 worth of Burnaby debentures in its own investment, interest on some of which is believed in arrears.

For some time past Burnaby affairs have been under review by various departments of the Government, first in connection with unemployment relief, then sinking funds and more lately its general financial situation.

The last request was when the Burnaby School Board asked the Government to advance a loan for its current operations. Earlier in the year Reeve Pritchard had moved for a considerable loan from the Province, but this had to be refused, as there was no legal authority to lend the money.

In connection with the Government's days ago, municipal officials of Burnaby made a further appeal for aid, but there was no statutory provision under which such assistance could reasonably be given, it was explained. At that time it was said that coupon interest on some debentures had been passed, and salaries under the school board were actively in arrears.

As far as could be learned yesterday, the Government does not propose to initiate any move in the matter, but will watch affairs as they develop. Under recent legislation, bondholders have access to the courts should they wish to pursue this course and apply, as was done in the case of one Mainland centre recently. It was made clear, however, that the Government will not exercise any rights it might have in this respect, as holder of Burnaby bonds.

MANY APPRECIATE LECTURE SERIES

Large Audiences Witness Exhibition of Forestry Films in Outlying Districts

A gratifying interest is being shown by residents of outlying districts in a series of films and lectures on Canadian wild life being given by E. V. Ablett, Canadian Forestry Association representative.
Mr. Ablett states that the average attendance during the showing of the pictures has been about 150 persons, while his largest audience at lecture, was at Sidney, where 278 persons attended. The districts visited by Mr. Ablett include Shelburne, Courtenay, Hall, Keating, Gordon Head, Sidney, Laxton, Royal Oak, Saanichton and Melchior.

According to Mr. Ablett, there is considerable interest among Canadians in game and nature topics, which he believes is due to the actual educational tours sponsored by the Dominion Forestry Association. Tonight Mr. Ablett will lecture at Craigflower School, and the remainder of his stay here will include lectures at St. Luke's Hall, Cedar Hill, tomorrow night; Strawberry Vale W.I. Hall, December 12; Colwood Hall, December 12; Lake
Hill Community Centre, December
14; Brentwood W.I. Hall, December 15; and Langford W.I. Hall, December 16.

the Jubilee Hospital.

dozen Christmas crackers, and further contributions of jam and books have been received. The cutwork

The Christmas sale of work by the Ladies' Aid of the Shrine Auditorium was held at the home of Mrs. Burt, 160 Burnside Road, yesterday afternoon. The rooms were beautifully decorated and many people attending assured the success of the sale. Rev. A. O. Thomson, D.D., minister of the Shrine Church, introduced the program, which was accompanied by Mrs. Fraser Tolmie and Mr. E. W. Sawyers, of the Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C.

Dr. Tolmie, in declaring the sale open, expressed the pleasure it gave him to be among the people of the Shrine Church, and the Shrine members of the Ladies' Aid are doing a great work not only among their own people, but in the community generally. At a time like this, especially during Christmas season, many poor people are needing help, and by your efforts and gifts you are bringing cheer to many a home," he declared.

Dr. Tolmie concluded by wishing all success to the sale. Little Ada Burt presented a beautiful bouquet of flowers to the Premier.

The stalls were presided over as follows: Home cooking and candy, Mrs. Graham; plain sewing and needlework, Miss Miller; Mrs. Tolmie, the hostess, was assisted at the table by Messrs. A forthcoming event of importance will be the annual Christmas festival to be given in the First United Church on Monday, December 19, under the auspices of the Young People's department. An executive committee has all arrangements on hand, and one of the most delightful and inspirational programmes will be rendered. The following are the various headings: "Proclamation of Christmas," "The Shepherd in the Field," "The Manger Cradle." The festival will be depicted in a vocal and instrumental recital.

There will also be community carol singing. Under the direction of Miss Olive Heritage, a Christmas pageant will be presented by young people. The title of the play is "The Gift" (Marie A. Foley). This is a very beautiful story of the meaning of Christmas presented in a colorful setting.

The first part of the programme will be presented in the auditorium of the church, when Mrs. W. H. Wilson and James Petrie will render appropriate vocal solos and Misses Ina Panton and Edie Robinson will render a selection. Christmas organ selections will be given by Jack Smith, and a ladies' chorus from the Y.P.D. will be rendered. The festival meeting will be open to the general public. Dares Waves for Picture

THIS young lady evidently doesn't mind a ducking if there's a chance of getting a good picture, but she didn't know that her Spartan behavior was providing the above photo. The young camera enthusiast is shown in the immediate path of a giant breaker that pounded the sea wall at Winthrop, Mass., during the recent spell of heavy weather which caused much damage along the New England coast.

CHURCHMEN HEAR NOTED SPEAKER

Dr. A. T. Holden Addresses Men's Club of Metropolitan United Church

"The sea does not divide us, but unites us," stated Dr. A. T. Holden, head of the Methodist Church of Australia, when he addressed the regular meeting of the Men's Club of Metropolitan United Church Tuesday night.

Dr. Holden outlined the great struggle now in progress in his homeland for a United Church and told of the remarkable manner in which both Methodists and Presbyterians were co-operating to alleviate the loneliness and suffering of those British subjects living in the wilds of Australasia.

Hostels, he stated, had been established, where competent nurses were able to care for the sick and injured. Flying medical assistance had been sponsored by the churches and radio communication brought the events of the world within reach of many.

Arthur Lee, who acted as chairman, called upon Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry to move a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was seconded by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson. Rev. E. F. Church extended the best

British News Is Good Cheer for Empire Markets

Word that the Imperial Government will specify Canadian and other Empire softwoods in its building work orders after May 1 next was received with warm appreciation by the British Columbia Government yesterday. Premier Tolmie commented that this action, as announced in the House of Commons, would not only be a fillip in itself to increase British Columbia orders, but would serve also as a lead in increased use of Empire products in the same market.

The acceptance of British Columbia standards in size and cut was taken as exceptionally gratifying.

"SAGITTARIUS"

Born on December 8, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. from 5:45 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Be alert on this December 8 and guard yourself against having a false sense of security. If things seem to be coming decidedly your way take care lest they suddenly exhibit a reversal in form. Victory may be turned into defeat in a moment, and seemingly without rhyme or reason, such are the forces operating on this date.

The sea of love and matrimony will be touched by frequent squalls. The child born on this December 8 will apparently have difficulty in making a start in his earthly existence. His health early in life will not be the strongest, but fate will be on his side and in time he should "ride the crest of the wave." Do not push him too much at school. Encourage him in his "play-life" and build up his little body. His mental equipment you will find is all that he will require and more, and he will grasp things quickly.

If December 8 is the date of your birth, you most probably are the sort of person to whom things come easily. Apparently without trying, you do not merely succeed, you succeed outstandingly. Everything you touch or have anything to do with seems to come out advantageously. Consequently you have many friends who seek to ride along with you. FIND EVIDENCE OF INCENDIARISM

Investigation Shows New Westminster Church Fire Originated at Two Points

NEW WESTMINSTER, Dec. 7.—Evidence obtained by investigators today revealed the fire which swept the interior of St. Mary's Anglican Church originated at two points at the rear of the church, bearing out the theory that the cause was incendiary.

No defect was found in the electric wiring.

No evidence of kindling wood or other substance which was possibly used to set the fire was discovered. Splinters of wood were found but these came from firemen's axes as they fought the blaze.

The fire loss will be covered by insurance, a "blanket" policy being carried by the church authorities.

Rev. Frank Plaskett said that steps will be taken to rebuild the structure, and in the meantime services will be held in the Parish Hall, which was undamaged.

HOW TIME FLIES!

Lecturer (who has spoken for two hours): "I shall not keep you much longer. I am afraid I have spoken at rather great length. There is no clock in the room, and I must apologize for not having a watch with me."

A voice: "There's a calendar behind you, mister!"

Night Club Daughter

By KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS

Michael Bates, a young man from New York, comes to Victoria to see his father, who is a well-known figure in the city. He is attracted by a girl named Carol, who is the daughter of a night club owner. He is also attracted by a girl named Carol, who is the daughter of a night club owner. He is also attracted by a girl named Carol, who is the daughter of a night club owner.

CHAPTER III
Jersey undressed "the kid" at a sound asleep. The following morning, Carroll was drugged from lack of sleep, but two or three or her mother's confidences bit through torpor.

"Mike's coming to see you tomorrow, honey."

"Ain't yuh? Hum? Tired baby? There we are!" She stripped off Carroll's small silk shirt, speaking:

she bragged loudly that Carroll had the very best of just every little thing.

"Like Mike? You know, the gentleman who took you on his lap?"

"Yes," slowly, thickly, "I like him," the emphasis came from the fact that Carroll did not always like the "gentlemen" her mother wanted her to like.

"He's class, kid, real class; goin' to fly high, ain't yuh? Leave mammy takin' the dust. Well, that's the way; you wait to get your kids everything and they leave yuh to take the dust. But your old mammy ain't one to yell."

Carroll's nightdress went over her head; she lurching raised arms to seek armholes.

"All your old mammy wants is the top for her kid. Yes, air! And Mike's the top. And he's all right; he's white, all right, when the Wister ice breaks up. He told me not to marry your daddy, that low car! Stan! Stan! Can't yuh?"

Carroll endeavored to stand still; her mother was brushing her hair until her head bobbed back, forward, and her eyebrows were raised by the pull.

"There: your old mammy's goin' to see you got good hair, pretty, no matter how her feet hurts her. Want a cream puff, hon?"

"Yes," Carroll answered thickly; so sleepy, sick from it, but at the age of eternal hunger.

"Tressa left one in the ice box," Jersey said, moving to the door.

Carroll slept during the short moments of her mother's pilgrimage. When she came back Jersey shook Carroll to wakefulness and Carroll gulped down the cream puff.

"Now say your prayers, hon," Jersey ordered.

Carroll sagged to small, thin knees.

"Now I lay me," the only prayer Carroll knew, hadn't so much as space for breath between hurried word.

"Atta girl!" said Jersey, encouragingly, "keep moving!"

"Gah bless Jersey and Tressa and make Carroll a good girl, amen," said Carroll.

"Ain't that all of it?" asked Jersey, yawning widely.

"Gah bless Mike, amen," said Carroll.

Jersey roared. "Hot hell!" she sung out, "that'll crack a rib for Mike!"

But it did not.

When Michael woke the next morning he stretched, blinked and remembered, to find that his impulse to do good had survived through sleep, and that was something new.

As he dressed he read the gossip column in a paper for which he'd sent his man. One item ran: "Mike Wister, who manages his real estate holdings through plenty of proxies and rarely goes near his office, was at the Golden Horn last night. With him was his girl friend Boston Aunt, shaking a head and not a leg. Mike will be remembered in that will some day maybe, and all his struggles will be over. Jersey greeted him hot—she who was once all mixed up that way with M. Wetherall. Boys will be boys."

Michael gave a thought to shot-guns, but after all, he decided, it might have been a good sight worse.

He sought the Langingham Arms Apartment building that afternoon at four o'clock. The place was exactly the place in which Jersey would live, Michael decided as he quelled a pert, gun-chewing clerk by the tone with which he made inquiry about Miss O'Grady's floor.

"Was Miss O'Grady expectin' you?" Michael heard from the desk clerk.

He answered with "Yes," while he stared at imitation marble columns.

"Well, I hafta telephone up; that's one of the rules; we hafta telephone," she informed him in a voice that seemed angry.

"Then please do," said Michael, sounding weary and bored though he was neither; he was merely irritated at himself for that which seemed, now, a futile waste of effort.

No one, he was certain, could develop any admirable qualities against this setting of imitating everything, which would have been quite bad enough had it been genuine.

"She's in, she'll see yuh; seventh law," said the desk clerk haughtily. He had acted to her, well used to kidding, "like he felt he was the Prince of Wales or something."

Michael crossed an imitation tile floor to step into an elevator, which was assaillingly gilt and which had rose-hued brocade walls and bench covers in near silk.

He closed his eyes as the elevator took flight.

"Seventh law!" sung out the elevator boy with the ugly, leering lips and stily shifting gaze.

Carroll was waiting at the elevator; she slipped her hand into Michael's and they walked down the hall together.

"This is our door," said Carroll. The door was opened by Jersey, and opened, it gave Michael yet another shock. Jersey, who was a pretty nearly, but not quite, Spanish. Behind Jersey, who was parked upon a Chinese rug of assaillingly bold design and hue, Michael saw a grill that divided the small room, a refectory table, Spanish benches, four or five huge earthenware jars, a loud-toned picture of some monks throwing dice, and a scarlet cope. There was also a Louis—something chaise—longue and a large number of floor cushions. These were the assailling points; the casual items were made by a bag of caramels, a half piece of candy Jersey had bitten into to discard, hating coffee flavor, from anything but a cup, a comb lacking some teeth, with some of Jersey's hair in it. Some folded, bills and change in an ash tray and a half burnt cigar, hard-ched, and warped, made Michael see those who, with hats on the side of bullet heads, hang around the polls.

"Kilroy, parked that there," said Jersey whom circumstances had taught to feel censure and to do much explaining.

"Kilroy," Michael echoed vaguely. Local politics in a small way had never interested him.

"Big Bill," Jersey explained, "the boss of this was and is, guess, to be frank, a good many others. I hafta have some dealings with him about the place. If you don't keep in with the big ones they make you trouble about hours of closing and all that stuff."

"I presume so," Michael admitted. He laid his hat, gloves on a similar table by the door and by a vase which held extremely dusty artificial flowers. Then he slipped from his lightweight spring coat.

"Go tell Tressa we're ready for tea," said Jersey to Carroll. "Goin' to have tea for yuh, Mike, knowing you was class and used to it and all."

"That's very good of you," he said sincerely and he gave her the kindest glance he had given her since entering. The best in him was always found by any genuine kindness, even though it were small.

"Say, take your foot off the gas and squat," Jersey invited.

She dropped to a languorous stretch on the chaise-longue, and Michael bent slightly, but not greatly, on a stiff chair. Behind her, on a stiff chair, he saw that parties were rare to her.

"Beat it, Carroll," said Jersey. "Mike wants to tell Mammy a bedtime story."

Her face fell. "For just a little while, Carroll," said Michael. He drew his watch from his pocket; "you take it," he said, "and when the hands are here—but can you tell time?"

Jersey must learn that sleep had something to do with health, Michael decided as he said, "You nodded ardently. 'Yes, I can tell time," she answered somewhat breathlessly. "I can tell time easy, can't I, mother? I can tell time on all the clocks!"

"Sure, she can tell time; she ain't no dummy, Mike," said Jersey.

"I'm twelve," said Carroll. Michael looked his doubtful surprise and Jersey, long-trained to reading faces, spoke quickly.

"That kid's tellin' God's truth, Mike," she said. "She's just one of them kids who stay lit and thin."

SEA THRUSH TOTAL LOSS

Wreck, in Exposed Position, Abandoned by Owners—May Salvage Cargo

Broadside to the sea, the freighter Sea Thrush was found lying in an exposed position at 10 o'clock Monday morning last, when the Ss. Salvage King reached the scene of the ship's stranding. Clatsop Spit, Columbia River, W. O. Jordan, salvage superintendent for the Pacific Salvage Company, stated here last evening after the salvage vessel had returned to her berth in the harbor.

"There was a heavy sea running when we arrived," Mr. Jordan said, "and we were unable to get closer than 4,000 feet to where she was lying. We got aboard her in a surf boat and made an inspection. The boiler at that time had been shoved out of place by the incessant pounding the ship was subjected to, the rivets had sheared off and the connections had been broken, while the bulkheads were corrugated and ready to break."

HAD NO LUCK

"Had we arrived at the scene of the wreck shortly after the ship had gone aground, there would have been a good chance to save her; and if the weather had been at all favorable after we arrived, we might have been able to release her, although it meant moving her at least 2,000 feet, but we had no luck, as the sea kept piling the sand around her."

INSIDE RIVER

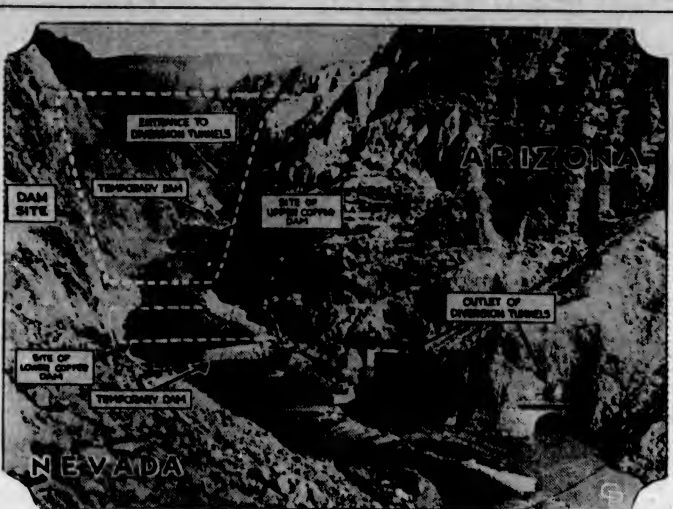

The Sea Thrush, Mr. Jordan stated, is lying near the South Jetty, well inside the river bar, between No. 10 and No. 12 buoys. She ran ashore on Sunday morning last in a fog, while proceeding to Portland to discharge cargo for the Columbia River city and to load cargo for the East coast. The freighter's cargo consisted of canned salmon, grain and mainly lumber.

The owners of the ship have abandoned her and turned her interests over to the Columbia River Salvage Company, which will attempt to recover all salvageable cargo on a fifty-fifty or "no cure, no pay" basis. The cargo is valued at $50,000.

COMEDY ROMANCE OPENING TODAY

Excellent Cast Stars in "Evenings for Sale," Being Shown at Capitol

"Evenings for Sale," a romantic comedy featuring Herbert Marshall (phenomenal star of "Trouble in Paradise"), Sari Maritz, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland, starts today at the Capitol Theatre, and is a peculiarly delightful piece of entertainment.

As far as the story is concerned, "Evenings for Sale" is a tenderly romantic idyll which involves in general from the same background as "The Merry Widow." "The Student Prince" and other stories of Central Europe. But the story cannot help being subordinate to the performances of the cast and to the brilliant treatment, both dramatic and musical, that has been accorded the production, under the direction of Stuart Walker.

"The Last Man" is a gripping sea mystery tale with a ship at sea and Port Buz as the background. Charles Bickford plays the principal male lead and Constance Cummings plays opposite him. Others in the cast are Alec B. Francis, Alan Roscoe, Robert Ellis and Kit Guard.

comedy now playing at the Dominion Theatre. This type of store, long out of existence, sold everything from butter to plough shares. "Getting materials for the set," says Wood, the director, "had us hunting all over the state. But it was an education in the progress made in sanitary handling of food. Old bulk sales are replaced by machine-handled packages, absolutely sanitary. Sealed packages for crackers, for butter, pickles and the rest of the things sold in bulk have eliminated almost all the old-time methods."

Kay Francis in "False Madonna"

A story by May Edginton, "The Heart is Young," is the basis for "The False Madonna," Paramount picture now at the Playhouse Theatre. The original story appeared in novelette form in recent issues of Collier's Magazine. Kay Francis plays the leading role as the respectable and stylish lady who turns crook and then turns respectable, posing for some dramatically tense scenes as a member of a gang of crooks. As their decoy, she represents herself as the lost mother of a wealthy lad who will inherit a vast fortune, earning for herself the name of "The False Madonna."

"False Faces" Is Columbia Feature

Is there a sin more contemptible than that of a sacred trust? "False Faces," a World Wide picture at the Columbia Theatre, is the story of a plastic surgeon, who, endowed with a talent for surgery, an air for the spectacular, an uncanny instinct for attracting women and money, and possessed with an unusually magnetic personality, uses all his powers for personal profit. Although purely a character of fiction, Dr. Silas Brenton, as played by Lowell Sherman, is endowed with the Sherman personality, and while a thoroughly despicable person, is magnetic enough to hold interest, and even sympathy throughout the picture.

WILL PRESENT REVUE AT SHRINE TOMORROW

The Carisma revue, to be held at the Shrine Auditorium tomorrow night, has for the second half of the programme a clever Spanish ballet entitled "Bravo, Torador," which boasts some clever local talent in the cast. The scene is laid in a kypsy smuggler's wine cellar, where smugglers and pirates await the arrival of a victorious torador, in whose honor a big fiesta is to be held. The leading role is taken by Evelyn McCullough.

A GREAT INVENTION

Illustrative of what leadership means, it is fitting to recall that of the many electrical and mechanical innovations perfected and introduced to the public by Westinghouse—that of the superheterodyne radio set is one of the most important in providing home entertainment. The superheterodyne circuit is now used almost universally—a striking endorsement of the foresight of Westinghouse and associate engineers—one of the really great modern inventions.

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT BILLED AT STADIUM

Devora to Oppose Brooks and Pereira Will Meet Severe on Saturday

A double main event will be presented by Promoter "Winnipeg" Hillon on the wrestling card at the Pacific Stadium on Saturday night at 8:45 o'clock. In one half, Dr. Devora, Boston, will meet Rocky Brooks, local heavyweight; while in the other, Al Pereira, Mexico, will grapple with Frank Severe, of Denver. The bouts are scheduled to go six ten-minute rounds. All principals are heavyweights.

The winner of the Pereira-Severe bout will meet Oki Shikina here on December 17 and the victor in that match will oppose Tiger Daula on December 24.

Pereira has appeared in a local ring before, but little is known of Severe. The former knows the grappling game thoroughly and Severe is reported to be a tough customer.

Devora is another unknown to local fans, but has met several top-notchers in the Northwest with considerable success. Brooks recently returned from a wrestling campaign in several Coast cities and will be in good shape.

Toronto Varsity Captures Eastern Junior Grid Title

Freshmen Defeat Montreal Winged Wheelers, 11-0, to Win Right to Meet Moose Jaw Maroons for Canadian Championship on Saturday

By KLMER DULMADE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO, Dec. 7.—University of Toronto's flying freshmen, Arthur Upper and Bobby Coulter, ran wild on a greasy field at Varsity Stadium today, to lead the third ranking blue football team into an intercollegiate struggle for the Canadian junior championship.

With Upper and Coulter, Toronto-bred back fielders, racing sensationally through broken fields, Varsity upset the young Winged Wheelers from Montreal, 11-0, in the Eastern final before a shivering crowd of not more than 400 and qualified to meet the West's champions, Moose Jaw Maroons, here Saturday for the Dominion title.

Third of Varsity's intercollegiate championship squads, the juniors piled up a four-point lead in the first quarter as Upper took advantage of a brisk wind to lay a barrage of fifty-yard punts in the vicinity of the Montreal goal posts, then sailed away the triumph in the last period after they had fought off a desperate Wheeler rally that came within two feet of succeeding.

CLOSE TO SCORING
Mike Jotkus, burly Wheeler middle who hits a line in much the same fashion as "Big Brother" Pete, a power in the Big Four, came within an ace of flattening the collegian stronghold in the fourth quarter. On successive plunges Mike toted the ball to the Toronto two-yard strip, making the last fifteen-yard gap in one jump. A touchdown and extra point would have put the maroon-guarded Quebec champions in front, but something went wrong.

Varsity linemen set back the first Wheeler charge without a gain and then threw Quarterback Murray for a five-yard loss. Murray dropped the ball on the play, Varsity recovering. Coulter promptly kicked in the first of this series. An attractive card is in process of preparation and will include some of the boys who have been taking advantage of the free boxing classes which were recently started. Outside fighters will be engaged to round out the card and the event will take place at the club's headquarters in the old Foresters' Hall.

George I. Warren, president of the organization, expressed his satisfaction with the support that has been received. Great enthusiasm was being shown over the free boxing classes, he said, and he looked forward to the day when the association would take its old place in the sporting life of Victoria.

Wales Scores 4-1 Win Over Ireland In Soccer Match
Small Crowd Sees Welshmen Send Irish Down to Fourth Straight Defeat in International Fixture—Losers Lead, 1-0, at Half Whistle

WREXHAM, Wales, Dec. 7 (CP).—Ireland's international soccer team today suffered its fourth defeat of the season, losing to Wales 4-1 after a valiant effort to carry off a win. With a record of a scoreless tie with England and a 5-2 victory over Scotland, Wales rallied after trailing 1-0 at the half and crashed the Irish.

Nine thousand spectators saw the game, played under fine weather conditions. Wales won the toss and Dunne kicked off. The Irishmen had the better of the play in the early minutes, forcing Wales to cover several times. Finally the play moved to the other end. Robbins missed a beautiful chance to score for Wales when he failed to take in a pass in front of the goalmouth.

NARROW ESCAPE
The Welsh goal was then the centre of excitement. A hard shot from Dunne cannoned off the goal's knee into the post and then cut in front of the net. After both backs had missed their kicks to try to clear the ball, Griffiths cleared away.

English then gave Ireland a 1-0 lead when, after twenty-seven minutes, he took the ball from the right side clear across the field to fool John in the Welsh nets. In the second half Wales completely dominated the play, scoring four goals at frequent intervals.

The teams were: Wales—J. John, Williams, R. John, Murphy, Griffiths, D. Richards, W. Richards, O'Nallaghan, Astley, Roberts and W. Evans.
Ireland—Scott, Cook, Williamson, Mitchell, Jones, McCleery, Hsuwcon, English, Dunne, J. Deharly and Kelly.

WORKOUT CALLED OFF
The regular J.B.A.A. Rugby workout scheduled tonight at the Gorge clubrooms has been called off before the final whistle. C.P.S. were continually misting with good opportunities from the floor and foul line during both halves. Darrell Bissell and Jack McKenzie turned in fine games on C.P.S.'s back division. They broke up numerous attacks and started many of the offensive drives.

Close checking featured the Navy-J.B.A.A. fixture and the result was a low score during both periods. The sailor's and tallied seven baskets while the Blackhawk and Kaustic gave the Navy their victory in the final canto.

COOKIES IN FORM
Scoring fourteen points in the final half to their opponent's four, Dad's Cookies showed signs of championship ball to win from Harmony in the women's tussle. The first two quarters were slow, with close checking featuring The Cookies led at the interval, 5-3. In the last two quarters, the Cookies hit their stride and tallied seven baskets while the best Harmony could do was to register two field goals.

(2) Simpson—Martin (15), Shepherd (8), Brown (4), Feden (2), Cuddihy.
C.P.S.—Butler (3), Skillings (6), Riddell, Cuddihy (4), Harding, Davis (4), Wright, McKenzie, Bissell.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (CP).—Wrestling, with its new found popularity, tonight is in danger of banishment from the Madison Square Garden.

The reason grapplers henceforth may be barred from New York's "big time" arena is because of Monday night's wrestling war. Edward "Strangler" Lewis, the portly exponent of the Greek art and reigning champion so far as the New York State Athletic Commission is concerned, defeated the fiery Ray Steele in this particular contest. But Lewis' winning on a foul round the ire of a large part of the 10,000 customers who contributed to a $125,000 gate.

The miniature riot that followed the decision in favor of Lewis, who had been the recipient of frequent stiff rights to the jaw during the 23 minutes and 55 seconds of tussling, and the unsatisfactory ending of the semi-final, were said to be the chief reasons the management is considering outlawing the mat game from the Garden.

STEELE SUSPENDED
A broad shouldered parade appeared before the State Athletic Commission moguls last night. Referee Eddie Forbes, the judges and the principals, and Tom Marvin, an excitable matman who hopped into the ring to shout Promoter Jack Curley into temporary oblivion, gave their version of the affair. Game this sentence: Steele suspended for sixty days. Renato Gardini and John Eiko, wrestlers who also leaped into the ring in the mob scene, set down indefinitely.

The commissioners tried to find some punishment for Marvin. But Marvin had no license of any kind to revoke and the victory was his when the commissioners gave it up exasperated.

One thing definitely settled as the result of last night's show is, to quote Strangler Lewis, that "one cannot outwrestle a sock on the chin."

GILBERT TAKES
Big Lead Over Mills in Riding

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7 (AP).—John Gilbert, youthful riding sensation from Pittsburgh, Pa., went five up on his equally young rival from Colorado, Hank Mills, in their duel for the season's jockey honors today. Gilbert booked home three winners at Jefferson Park while Mills could finish ahead once.

Today's triple gave Gilbert a total of 187 winners for the season against 162 for Mills.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
An extraordinary bill—On September 15, 1917, W. S. Pittman, constable of Precinct No. 1 of Wharton County, undertook to arrest one Francisco Lopez, a diminutive Mexican bad man, in the City of Wharton, Texas. As Pittman approached, the "hombre" opened fire with his 38 pistol. Pittman returning fire with his 45 colt. The first shot from the 45 hit squarely in the muzzle of Lopez's gun, rendering it utterly useless for further dueling, allowing Pittman a decided but bloodless victory.

The gun is now in my office in New York City, and will be displayed in the "Believe It or Not Odditorium," which is to be opened shortly.

861 Miles in Six Days—The Count de Montenoy was emissary of Napoleon I to the court of Vienna in 1809. The French Emperor sought the daughter of Austria in marriage, and so anxious was he to obtain the Austrian ruler's consent that he dispatched the young count—the most renowned horseman in France.

Montenoy rode from Paris to Vienna, a distance of 861 miles, in less than six days. He did not change horses en route, and arrived in Vienna in so exhausted a state that he was permitted to remain seated in the Imperial presence. History notes that Montenoy was successful in his mission. Napoleon rewarded him by presenting him with the horse, in addition to a jeweled snuffbox and a grant of 60,000 francs.

HEADS OF CANADIAN AMATEURS TO MEET TODAY

Intermingling of Pros and Amateurs Will Be Considered

Lively Debate Expected on Question—President Morkin Opposed to Move—Western Delegates to Support Change in Rules—Olympic Fund to Be Discussed

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 (CP).—Leaders of amateur sport from all parts of Canada are gathered here tonight for the opening of the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada tomorrow. Prospect of a lively debate on a proposed loosening of the regulation which bans professionals from competition in any branch of amateur sport lends added interest to the meeting.

New methods of financing Canadian Olympic teams in the future and steps in the direction of a national registration system are other important matters on the programme.

Presentation of reports from the executive, various committees, and the governing bodies of different branches of sport will be the first order of business when President James I. Morkin, of Winnipeg, calls the meeting to order tomorrow.

The Saskatchewan branch of the union is sponsor of the proposal to permit professionals in one branch of sport to register as amateurs in another. It is likely to be highly contentious. The Saskatchewan branch has not sent a delegate, but its vote in support of the resolution is already in the hands of the secretary, John Leale, of Edmonton.

MAY LEVY TAX

Two proposals in connection with the financing of Olympic teams will be before the meeting. A resolution sponsored by the secretary would provide for an Olympic tax "on all tickets of admission to events sanctioned" by the union. The tax would only be levied if the Canadian Olympic committee decides to ask allied members of the union to levy the tax.

From the British Columbia branch comes a proposal that the Canadian Olympic committee strike its budget for the next Olympic Games in 1934 at once. This would permit the committee to approach the Dominion and Provincial Governments for yearly contributions on which to build up a fund to meet the expenses of the budget.

The Pacific Coast branch also proposes the Canadian Olympic committee should be only a financing committee for the games and should be composed of one representative from each organization taking part in the games and one representative from each province.

National registration has been before former conventions and may be settled this year. Steps are planned to bring the articles of affiliation between the A.A.U. and the governing bodies of various branches of sport into harmony with the proposed system.

COLLEGES OPPOSED

Inter-collegiate athletic heads are definitely opposed to any change in the amateur athletic code allowing professionals in one sport to play with amateurs in another, and "the inter-collegiate will withdraw from the union if the motion passes," Dr. S. Lamb, physical director at McGill University, stated today.

Dr. Lamb will represent the Inter-collegiate Amateur Athletic Union at the A.A.U. o. C. meeting which assemblies at Ottawa tomorrow. He will take to the capital a mandate from the inter-collegiate to oppose in every way possible the passage of the resolution. Should the motion be carried, the inter-collegiate will organize union of its own under existing rules.

Securities Show Firmer Trend at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Stocks were mildly ambitious today, but had some difficulty in adding to gains of the previous session. However, the tone was generally firm and the market closed with a small advance. Wheat firmed, while bonds looked stouter.

But stock market professionals found meagre support from the outside. Quotations slid off in much quieter trading during the afternoon. Oils had a flurry that had better staying powers, their move anticipated the Texas Railroad Commission's order for a reduction in allowable output.

Save for small fractional losses by U.S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone and a few others, leading issues showed general, if narrow, net advances. Union Pacific sagged a point and American Waterworks lost 2. International Telephone steadied with more favorable reports regarding its Spanish "situation." Sales totaled 1,105,389 shares.

Led by United States and foreign Government loans, the bond market reversed its decline trend today and gave the most cheerful performance of the past several weeks.

While gains of 1 to 3 or more points in the domestic section were principally confined to rail and utility specialties of the more speculative type, firmness was the rule in most categories and minus signs were greatly in the minority.

Sales totaled $40,416,000, per value the largest turnover since October 13.

Canada of a point or more were recorded by bonds of Great Britain, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, France, Germany and New South Wales.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HOW NATURE PREVENTS LOSS OF BLOOD

If you can think of every little cell in your body as a tiny fish, you will get an idea of how the cells are able to live. Just as a fish must have water (a fluid) in order to live, so also must each body cell have fluid about it.

The fluid in which the cells of the body live is the blood and the lymph which "work together to carry food, water and oxygen away from the moist surfaces of the body and to deliver these necessities to the cells at the most distant part therefrom. From these cells in turn they bring back to the moist surfaces, in the lungs and kidneys, the useless waste from the cells, and the lungs and kidneys throw them out of the body in the perspiration and urine."

The blood passes along in little tubes, whereas the lymph moves more slowly filling in the chinks and finally it also is gathered into tubes to be put back into the blood stream again.

You can readily see then that this fluid (blood and lymph) is really life to the body, and so Nature does her best to prevent it being lost.

As you know the smallest prick of a pin will draw blood, showing how every part is well supplied.

How is this body fluid prevented from escaping from the body? When the skin is cut you will notice that in a very short time a little clot will form, a sort of jelly-like substance, which prevents any more blood escaping.

However, when severe bleeding occurs, it has been shown that as more blood is lost from the body, the blood that is left in the body clots more quickly, showing that Nature is doing her best to prevent further loss of blood.

In 1914 Drs. W. B. Cannon and

W. L. Mendenhall showed that it was the juice from the adrenal glands (situated one on top of each kidney) that hastened the clotting process of the blood.

And even when no adrenal juice is present, it has been found that the action of the liver cells helps the blood to clot more rapidly.

Surely, the force behind that body of yours is a "friendly" one.

How It Started

DON'T LOOK A GIFT HORSE IN THE MOUTH

We have an inquiry as to the origin of this old saying which alludes to the bad taste of criticizing or evaluating something that one gets for nothing.

There is a old story that the saying goes back to Jerome of the fourth century, who is supposed to have remarked, when fault was found with some of his writings, that they were free-will offerings, and that one should not "look a gift horse in the mouth."

We have recorded literary use of it however as far back as 1810 in the work "Vulgaria Stambri," then it is found in the eleventh chapter of the first book of the Works of Rabelais. In the "Frother" of John Heywood, and a well-known use of it in Butler's "Hudibras." With the exception of Butler, all these uses date about the middle of the sixteenth century, when the saying may be said to have come into its own. Butler is a century later.

The world production of lead in September declined 4.1 per cent to 99,888 tons. This falling off was due principally to decreases in the Mexican, Spanish, Australian and German outputs.

GIFT HOSIERY BY KAYSER

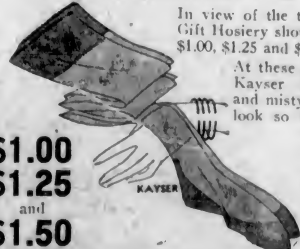

In view of the times, Kayser suggests that Gift Hosiery should not be priced higher than $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

At these prices you can buy exquisite Kayser Stockings, gossamer sheer, and misty as a dream—Stockings that look so frivolous but wear so well.

The season's smartest shades about town. Picot edges and Kayser's clever Sansheen twist that gives smart dullness. And perhaps you may give her three pairs or more!
